Dear Students,

We are excited to share an important milestone in the history of our College. Blue Cliff College is becoming Gulf Coast College!

For nearly four decades, Blue Cliff College has been committed to educating and preparing students for meaningful careers. As we look toward the future, the name Gulf Coast College better reflects who we are today, the communities we serve, and our continued commitment to career-focused education.

While our name is changing, the College you know is not. This is a name change only. There is no change in ownership, and the transition will not change your:

- Program of study or curriculum
- Tuition or financial aid
- Academic requirements or anticipated graduation date
- Faculty or campus leadership
- Campus location
- Credits earned or academic records
- Student services and support

Most importantly, you do not need to take any action as a result of the name change.

Over the coming weeks, you will begin seeing the Gulf Coast College name and new branding appear on our website, email communications, student systems, signage, forms, and other College materials. During the transition, you may see references to both Blue Cliff College and Gulf Coast College as we complete updates across all systems and records.

Our new website, gulfcoastcollege.edu, is also being developed and will become available as we complete the transition. We will provide additional information as these changes take effect.

Although our name is changing, our commitment to you remains the same. We will continue to focus on providing the education, hands-on training, resources, and support you need to successfully complete your program and prepare for your career.

We are proud of the history we have built as Blue Cliff College, and we are excited to begin this next chapter with you as Gulf Coast College — Real Skills for the Real World.

Thank you for being an important part of our College community. If you have questions about the name change, please speak with your Campus Director or a member of our Student Services team.

Sincerely,

Mollie Ludwig

President
